The Fifth International Conference on Ambient Computing, Applications, Services and Technologies (AMBIENT 2015), held between July 19-24, 2015 in Nice, France, was devoted to a global view on ambient computing, services, applications, technologies and their integration.

On the way to a full digital society, ambient, sentient and ubiquitous paradigms lead the torch. There is a need for behavioral changes for users to understand, accept, handle, and feel helped within the surrounding digital environments. Ambient comes as a digital storm bringing new facets of computing, services and applications. Smart phones and sentient offices, wearable devices, domotics, and ambient interfaces are only a few of such personalized aspects. The advent of social and mobile networks along with context-driven tracking and localization paved the way for ambient assisted living, intelligent homes, social games, and telemedicine.

The conference provided a forum where researchers were able to present recent research results and new research problems and directions related to them. We welcomed technical papers presenting research and practical results, position papers addressing the pros and cons of specific proposals, such as those being discussed in the standard forums or in industry consortiums, survey papers addressing the key problems and solutions on any of the above topics, short papers on work in progress, and panel proposals.

The conference had the following tracks:

- Ambient computing environments, sensors and hardware
- Ambient devices, applications and systems
- Ambient computing and modeling

Similar to previous editions, this event attracted excellent contributions and active participation from all over the world. We were very pleased to receive top quality contributions.

We take here the opportunity to warmly thank all the members of the AMBIENT 2015 technical program committee, as well as the numerous reviewers. The creation of such a high quality conference program would not have been possible without their involvement. We also kindly thank all the authors that dedicated much of their time and effort to contribute to AMBIENT 2015. We truly believe that, thanks to all these efforts, the final conference program consisted of top quality contributions.

Also, this event could not have been a reality without the support of many individuals, organizations and sponsors. We also gratefully thank the members of the AMBIENT 2015 organizing committee for their help in handling the logistics and for their work that made this professional meeting a success.

We hope that AMBIENT 2015 was a successful international forum for the exchange of ideas and results between academia and industry and to promote further progress in the area of Ambient Computing, Applications, Services and Technologies. We also hope that Nice, France, provided a pleasant environment during the conference and everyone saved some time to enjoy the charm of the city.
